Stage 1: Setting Up Tools for Install

Thank you for choosing FastMac. Please feel free to contact us at any time with any questions or comments you may have while installing your Bluetooth Card. Let's begin.

1. First, make sure the machine is unplugged and you are properly grounded and free from static electricity. Touch bare metal before handling and installing the upgrade. Hold card only by the edges and do not touch connector contacts. Layout your tools and begin.

2. Open the side panel by lifting up on the locking latch on the back of the unit. Pull the panel towards from the top edge and lift it away. Set the panel aside.

3. Pull the air deflector (the clear plastic piece inside) towards you and lift it out. Set the deflector aside.

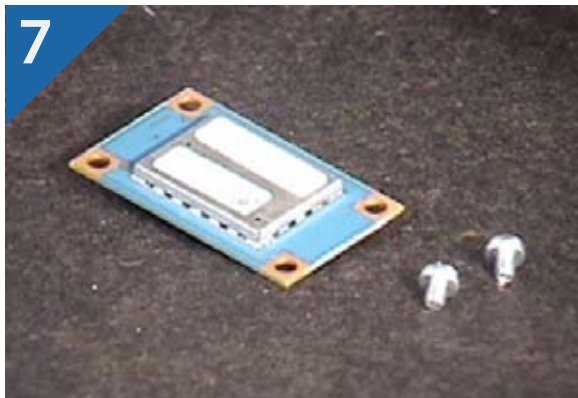

4. Carefully lift up the speaker/fan combo module located along the top of the chassis and turn it on it's side. Do not disconnect the cables, as it is very difficult to reconnect them.

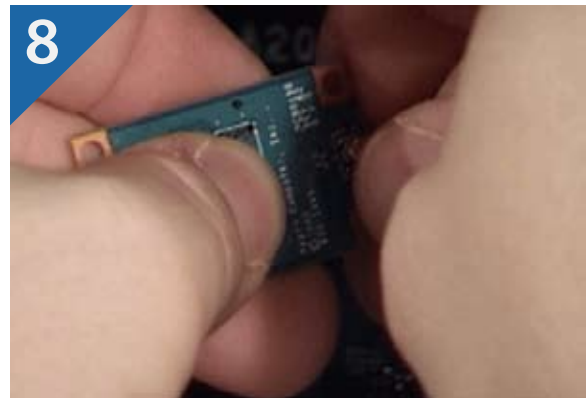

5. Locate the Bluetooth antenna cable along the PCI divider panel. It should be locked into place with a plastic tab.

6. Carefully route the cable through the other side of the divider panel.

7. Remove the Bluetooth card and two mounting screws from the packaging. Set the screws aside.

8. Carefully insert the connector on the end of the antenna into the connector on the Bluetooth card. You should hear/feel a small click. Be careful and do not apply too much force.

Stage 3: Securing Bluetooth Card

9. Line up the card with the connector on the logic board. Insert the card and push down with your fingertips to ensure the connection is solid.

10. Insert the provided screws into the posts on the logic board to secure the card.

11. Reinsert the speaker/fan combo module. Push down to lock it into place.

12. Reinsert the air deflector then the side panel. Lock the panel down using the locking latch on the back of the unit. You're done!
